

As a young child I walked the aisle of the church and JOINED the church. The preacher had preached on hell and I knew I didn't want to go there.

Several years later we had a new pastor that talked about playing church. I turned an almost closed ear to him because I remembered when I had joined the church. Then I started talking with his wife. She was doubting her salvation. I kept telling myself that was why I was having doubts, too.

Finally, I made myself sit down and go back in time over the experience I had as a child. When I was finally honest with myself, I admitted that I was a terrified child and did not understand what salvation was at that time.

I talked with the pastor and he and a friend came to my house and they prayed with me. I accepted Christ as my Savior that day. Now I know for certain that I am saved and will spend eternity with Christ in Heaven.

It was and is so incredible. I literally felt a burden lifted from my shoulders and a peace beyond imagination
